window & door styles

...to demonstrate the wide range of styles available, we have illustrated some of our more popular designs - you needn't use the same design as your existing - select one that suits your individual taste and needs.

hardware styles & finishes

...there are many hardware options available to you that refine this bespoke product very personally to you. In addition to this there are hundreds of glass and glazing styles available to define your home... from contemporary to traditional. We can finish your windows, doors and conservatories in a wide range of colours or natural stains.

Our hardwood windows, doors and conservatories are not produced in large factories by computer controlled machines, neither do we use 'engineered timber' that is so prevalent today - primarily used to hide the younger timber more commonly available.

Instead, our windows are custom-made by experienced craftsmen, using age-old traditional techniques and skills. The timber used is solid hardwood in a choice of species, seasoned and milled ready for your bespoke window, door and conservatory requirements. This timber is procured only from sustained and cultivated forests, all of which adhere to strict worldwide environmental guidelines.

The only break from tradition is the modern hardware that we employ for increased security and reduced maintenance, although hidden from view and still in keeping with the classic elegant styles, thus maintaining the traditional look and character of timber.

The Hardwood Range comprises of:

- Flush Casement Windows
- Stormproof Windows
- Vertical Sliding Sash Windows
- Shaped Frames
- Entrance Doors
- French Doors
- Folding, Concertina Doors
- Stable Doors...

... all tailor-made to your requirements.

Not only do we pride ourselves on a comprehensive range of hardwood window, door and conservatory products, we are also particularly proud of the 'Quality, Craftsmanship and Customer Care' demonstrated by our experienced, qualified installers. Hardwood needs that extra care and attention to detail during installation - you can be assured this will be provided by Window Wise.
