Most PVCu window designs today are based on the age-old joinery of yesteryear - however, on closer inspection the opening sashes always protrude from the window frame. Imagine a PVCu window where the opening sash fits snugly within the frame...well imagine no more.

The Revolutionary PVCu FlushSASH Window

The PlatinumNAG Classic range is the very latest innovation in fenestration. For years the window industry has replaced traditional timber products in properties with PVCu where the design of the chamfered or sculptured opening sashes protrude over the window frame.

The new range of FlushSASH windows and doors bring back the traditional authentic timber appearance where the sashes fit flush into the frame, reproducing character and style, providing low maintenance, high security, enhanced sound insulation and energy saving efficiency.

From a style perspective a wide range of timber grain effect finishes are available allowing matching or contrasting colours to be specified on the frame and sash. Mechanical joints on transoms and mullions are standard to replicate the traditional mortise and tenon joint feature. To complete the authentic period look monkey tail handles and faux window stays and pegs are available as an option.

Doors are supplied with a slender opening leaf with traditional style barrel hinges and when specified with a sidelite there is a uniform glass sightline, ultimately providing a balanced look.

These traditional style windows and doors are crafted using environmentally friendly lead free PVCu profiles, and can be specified with energy efficient double or triple glazed sealed units for optimum energy performance and sound insulation.

The FlushSASH range is the perfect choice for homeowners who have been waiting for an affordable replacement to their existing tired timber windows and doors and the ideal choice for those looking to put the traditional style and character back in to their home.

For those considering a conservatory or orangery, with all the period looks of timber and benefits of modern materials, the Platinum NRG Classic has to be the only choice.
